“

“Every today well lived has another tomorrow well deserved”

I had no opportunity to attend any School or College during my early life. This only strengthened my determination to study intensely.

As I grew, I had this single-minded desire to offer youngsters a platform to pursue basic education. During my 55 years of service as a teacher, I realized how dependent our future generations are on education for their success.

It is my firm belief that the two essential factors that enrich our lives are Education and Health, and I endeavor to provide both through MNR Educational Trust with the help of my dedicated team.
